ENERGY EFFICIENCY NARRATIVES WORKSHOP

online

26 NOVEMBER 2020
10:30 PM >> 12:30 PM

AGENDA

Energy Efficiency Narratives Workshop: Why do you promote energy efficiency in your region?

What?

Successful implementation of energy efficiency policies depends to great extent on the existence of an underlying national/regional narrative about the key benefits of energy efficiency. This narrative needs to be accepted and shared by stakeholders and also significant parts of the population.

How do such narratives appear? How can you as an energy agency or public authority develop and spread such a narrative? Register below to have the response to these questions.

Why attend?

This session is part of the Energy Efficiency Watch 4 H2020 project which focuses on assessing the progress of energy efficiency policies in Europe as well as developing and rolling-out new narratives promoting the most impactful benefits of energy transition. A narrative is a means of political communication compiling arguments in favor of policy action, highlighting and explaining its benefits from more than one angle. The supportive arguments for that policy often come from neighbouring or completely different policy areas (e.g. job creation through EE legislation).

During the session you will:

- learn about the progress of energy efficiency policies across Europe based on the responses of 1270 energy experts from across Europe;
- gain some insight on what arguments in favor of energy efficiency could be more effective in your country or at EU level, as well as who are your actual allies in the promotion of ambitious energy policies;
- exchange with other fellow agencies on how to better communicate on energy efficiency.

Co-funded by the Horizon 2020 programme of the European Union
